

SURRENDER COMPLETE AS JAPANESE SIGN UP

Proclaim Today As V-J Day In Great Victory

President Truman Says It Is One For Liberty Over That Of Tyranny

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—President Truman tonight proclaimed Sunday, Sept. 2, as V-J day—for Japan a day of "retribution," for America and the world a day of the "victory of liberty over tyranny."

Mr. Truman spoke over a globe-girdling radio hookup that linked the White House with Tokyo where aboard the great battleship Missouri just off the enemy capital, Japan abjectly signed the terms of her surrender.

Wide Significance
And to the occasion the President attributed a four-fold significance:

1. For this country—a day for "renewed consecration to the principles which have made us the strongest nation on earth and which, in this war, we have striven so mightily to preserve."

2. For Japan—an end of "power to destroy and kill."

3. For the world—a bright new era of hope for "peace and international good will and cooperation."

4. For history—"the day of formal surrender by Japan."

"We shall not forget Pearl Harbor," he said.
"The Japanese militarists will not forget the U. S. S. Missouri."
"The evil done by the Japanese war lords can never be repaired or forgotten. But their power to destroy and kill has been taken from them. Their armies and what is left of their navy are now impotent."

Invited Cabinet In

For this event of mingled solemnity and joy, Mr. Truman invited members of the cabinet to sit with him in the broadcast room on the first floor of the White House—the White House where Japan once haughtily boasted she would dictate surrender terms. They listened to the ceremonies aboard the Missouri and, in the midst of them, the President spoke.

Then the all-network broadcast switched back to Tokyo Bay for addresses by General Douglas MacArthur, supreme Allied commander, and Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Pacific fleet commander, American signers of the surrender documents.

There was little of gloating or elation in the President's address. Rather there was sober emphasis on what victory has cost and what it will mean.

Our first thoughts now, the President said, are thoughts of gratefulness and deep obligation to those killed or maimed in history's most terrible war, and of their loved ones. He went on:

"Only the knowledge that the victory, which these sacrifices have made possible, will be wisely used can give them any comfort. It is our responsibility—ours, the living—to see to it that this victory shall be a monument worthy of the dead who died to win it."

DEMOCRAT-CAPITAL EMPLOYEES OBSERVE LABOR DAY HOLIDAY

Monday, September 3, is Labor Day, and according to the usual custom there will be no issue of the Democrat Monday afternoon, nor of the Capital, Tuesday morning, September 4. Labor Day is one of the four holidays regularly observed by these publications.

Sam James Is Fatally Hurt In Accident

Kansas Citian's Car In Collision With Milk Truck

Sam James, about 50 years old, former night watchman of Versailles, was fatally injured about 9:30 o'clock Saturday night when his car a 1938 De Soto sedan which he was driving and a milk transport of the Central Missouri Cooperative, of Marshall, driven by Raymond Stoner of Marshall, collided one mile west of Stover on highway 52. Mr. James was taken to the office of Dr. B. A. Reynolds in Stover, where he passed away.

Mrs. James, riding with her husband in the front seat of the car received a fracture of the right arm and head injuries. Her condition was not believed to be serious.

The James car was demolished, while the truck was only slightly damaged, it was said.

Mr. and Mrs. James were enroute to Versailles, from their home in Kansas City, to visit with relatives and friends over Sunday and Labor Day. They were going east and the truck was headed west when the accident occurred. The truck went about 100 feet down the highway following the collision, then down an embankment for about twenty feet lodging against a tree.

Inquest Probable

B. L. Medicus, coroner of Morgan county, went to the scene and later viewed the body. He stated he believed Mr. James died from a head injury. He had a severe laceration just above the left eye, and chest injuries. He indicated an inquest would be held.

Stoner and Truman Atterbury, the latter a passenger in the truck, were taken in custody by Constable Ben L. Rickards, of Moreau Township, and lodged in the Morgan county jail at Versailles. They are to be questioned by the prosecuting attorney today.

The body of Mr. James was taken to the Rapp and Stevenson Funeral Home in Stover. He is survived by his widow and two sons both who are said to be in the service, also a brother John James of near Versailles. Mrs. James is a sister of Mrs. Bert Morrison of Versailles.

Cost Of European And Pacific Combat In Men Killed 252,885

THE BOX-Score
252,885 Killed;
233,444 Planes Built
$119 Billion Taxes

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—European and Pacific combat casualties—both army and navy—totalled 252,885 killed; 651,218 wounded; 43,969 missing and 122,747 prisoners.

There were 17,300 surgical amputations; 7,300 men were deafened to some degree; 1,190 were blinded in one or both eyes.

The war cost us a total of $287,181,000,000 (billion) compared with $280,000,000,000 spent by Germany, $49,154,000,000 by Japan and $135,856,000,000 by Russia, our nearest Allied competitor in the spending line.

Americans coughed up $119,346,228,000 in taxes during wartime. War-developed treasury indebtedness will hit $208,226,445,700 with war bond subscriptions and all other securities.

We lend-leased $59,000,000,000 (billion) in supplies of all kinds to our Allies.

USS Missouri Was Scene of Historic Jap Surrender

The United States Navy's mighty 45,000-ton battleship, the USS Missouri, ended her World War II career in a blaze of glory, Saturday Sept. 1 in Tokyo Bay, when she served as the scene of the historic unconditional surrender of Japan to the United Nations. Proudly bearing the name of the home state of President Harry S. Truman, the fighting USS Missouri was named by General of the Army, Douglas MacArthur, Supreme Allied Commander, as the locale of the formal ending of the war in the Pacific. Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Commander-in-Chief of the United States Pacific Fleet and Pacific Ocean Areas, signed for the United States, General of the Army, MacArthur, for the Allied forces which fought in the Pacific. The USS Missouri was launched Jan. 29, 1944. Construction was ordered June 12, 1940. Her keel was laid on Jan. 6, 1941, at the New York Navy Yard.

Labor Dignity Is Recognized

President For Wage To Good Living Standard

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—President Truman said tonight in a Labor Day statement that the nation recognizes the importance and dignity of labor and the right of every American to a wage which will permit a decent living standard.

The President's comment was echoed by other leaders in the country, as the United States prepared to celebrate the Labor Day holiday.

Concern was voiced by some leaders, however, lest the process of reconversion and attendant unemployment might not be properly solved.

Meanwhile the nation's war workers, who have been urged since the start of the war to regard Labor Day as just another working day, were told to have fun on Monday.

"Each year since the battle of production began," WPB Chairman J. A. Krug said in a statement, "American labor has responded nobly to the repeated urgings to stay on the job until victory is won. Now, at last, thanks to labor, the war is over."

Trio Of Boys Held Over Cars Taken

Youth took a holiday at Easterville, Iowa, the past few days with two fourteen year old boys and a fifteen year old boy running off. Two boys were together and reportedly stole a car at Easterville, while the third boy, who had been taken to Boy's Town on August 23, departed from there on the 28th and made his way to Kansas City where he took a car. All three are held in the Pettis county jail for the Sheriff of Easterville, who arrived Saturday evening.

Paul Sayer, 14, was taken to Boy's Town but he was not satisfied with things and left making his way to Kansas City. He took a car but was apprehended there. The sheriff from Easterville stopped in Kansas City and picked him up and brought him to Sedalia.

In Sedalia police picked up Lester Thompson 14, and Marvin Barfoot, 15, as runaways. The sheriff was notified they were here and he informed the local officials he would come to Sedalia.

Then Saturday after his arrival they admitted taking a 1936 Ford car of J. M. Hood, driving it to Roach, Mo., near the Lake of the Ozarks where they went swimming. When they got out of the lake, the key to the car was lost so they hitch-hiked back to Sedalia where they were picked up. The trio will be returned to Iowa today.

Sedalia May Be On Airlines

The Des Moines Gulf Airways Corporation has recently been organized under the laws of Iowa with Major Arnold Fletcher, Jr., president, Stephen Robinson, an attorney of Des Moines, vice-president and Mrs. Mildred Fletcher, secretary-treasurer. Major Fletcher, with the US Air Service in France, is a son of A. B. Fletcher, of Sedalia.

The application has been made by the company for passenger and express air rights from Sioux City, Iowa to Des Moines, Chillicothe, Sedalia, Little Rock, Hot Springs, Shreveport and Houston.

First class airports are available at all places with the exception of being erected under the direction of Chillicothe and Sedalia and Chillicothe has a new $100,000 airport of the CAA, and if the stop is made at Sedalia, as requested in the application improvements will probably be made here.

Major Fletcher's father operates the Des Moines, Springfield and Southern Bus routes.

Grew At Resort For Week-End

MANCHESTER, Mass., Sept. 1.—(AP)—While the Tokyo radio was broadcasting tonight the arrival of Joseph C. Grew, former ambassador to Japan, to General MacArthur's headquarters in Yokohama, Grew was unpacking for a quiet weekend at this summer resort.

Grew, recently resigned undersecretary of state, came here tonight for the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. V. R. Crosby.

The Tokyo radio broadcast was recorded by the FCC at San Francisco.

Stream Of Cars On To Lake

Is First Heavy Holiday Traffic In Late Years

The junction of highways 65 and 50 (west) Saturday appeared like pre-war holidays with a stream of traffic heading down 65 toward the Lake of the Ozarks. Hundreds of Sedalians are taking off these two days for their first post-war holidays, many going to the Lake of the Ozarks, others to St. Louis to the baseball games and still others on family reunion visits at various points of the state.

Saturday evening filling stations were crowded with cars, the drivers ordering "fill 'er up" and smiling at the tired station attendants.

Carry Boats And Canoes

At the junction many automobiles passed by towing trailers with speed boats on them, others had canoe boats and other light row boats tied to the top of their automobiles. Fishing poles were frequently seen tied alongside of automobiles on the highways.

Motorists, however, were showing caution in their driving holding it down to a moderate rate of speed and not hitting the concrete like in post-war days—at 60 and 70 miles per hour. They are still thinking of their tires.

Few motorists were having tire trouble, and those who were sought used tires, or any kind of a tire which would carry them on their way. New tires are out of the question without that necessary certificate issued by a tire rationing board.

The State Highway Patrol continuously is warning motorists to drive carefully and slow as the heat on old tires makes driving hazardous, and dealers just don't have any more old or used tires to meet the demand.

Circuit Court Opens Monday

The September term, civil division, of the Pettis county circuit court, will open Monday at 9:00 o'clock at which time the docket for the term will be set. The civil term is one of the heaviest in the history in divorce petitions, there being 110 such cases, with one case to set aside judgment and decree of divorce and another to modify a decree.

On the docket are also sixty-eight jury cases, and twenty-four equity cases.

Of the jury cases, twenty-five are damage suits against the Union Electric Co., of Missouri. These suits are for damages to property and crops caused by the Lake of the Ozark flood waters two years ago. There are also six damage suits against Guy A. Thompson, Trustee, Missouri Pacific railroad, two against the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad, the Alton railroad.

Fliers Killed In Training Plane Crash

NORMAN, Okla., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Naval air station officials released today the names of two fliers killed in the crash of a training plane three miles south of here.

They were Ens. George L. Mann, 21, son of Flavien D. Mann, (Elks Club) Pensacola, Fla., and seaman 1/c Joe Vincent Soula, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Soula, 7213 S. 17th Omaha, Neb. Mann was flight instructor and Soula a student. The former had been here only since Aug. 26. Cause of the crash was unknown.

Gen. MacArthur In Acceptance For The United Nations

Text Of Hirohito Command

U. S. S. Missouri, Tokyo Bay, Sunday, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Official text of Emperor Hirohito's proclamation, issued by order of the supreme Allied commander in connection with Japan's formal surrender:

"Accepting the terms set forth in the declaration issued by the heads of the governments of the United States, Great Britain and China on July 2, 1945 at Potsdam and subsequently adhered to by the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, I have commanded the Japanese imperial government and the Japanese imperial general headquarters to sign on by behalf the instrument of surrender presented by the supreme commander for the Allied powers and to issue general orders to the military and naval forces in accordance with the direction of the supreme commander of the Allied powers.

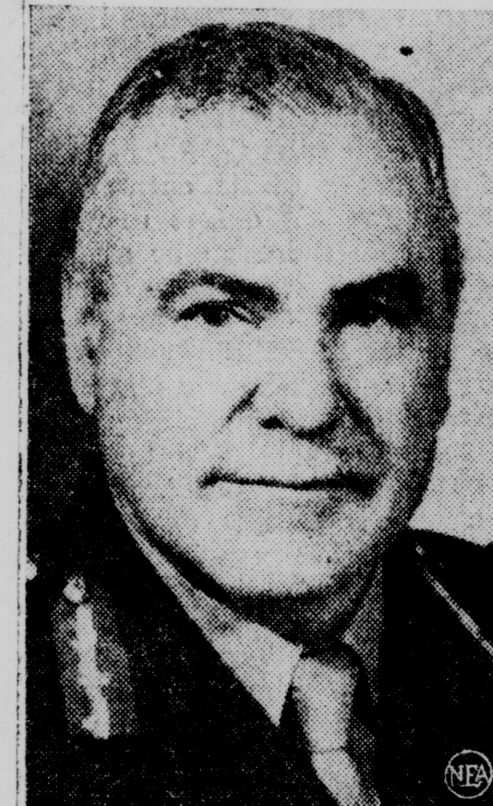

"I command all my people forthwith to cease hostilities, to lay down their arms and faithfully to carry out all the provisions of the instrument of surrender and the general orders issued by the Japanese imperial general headquarters hereunder."

Nine Provinces In Manchuria Out Of Three Is Intent

The dispatch, sent by the Chinese Central News Agency over the facilities of the Japanese Domei agency, was recorded by the FCC.

Allied Victory Complete

That horrible war, which had entered its eighth year in China and had raged for nearly three years and nine months for the United States and Great Britain, was finally and officially at an end with complete victory for the Allies.

On behalf of Emperor Hirohito, Foreign Minister Namoru Shigemitsu signed first for Japan. He doffed his top hat, tinkered with the pen and then firmly affixed his signature to the surrender document, a paper about 32 by 18 inches.

Shigemitsu carefully signed the American copy first, then affixed his name to a duplicate copy to be retained by Japan.

Following him, Gen. Yoshijiro Umezu, of the Japanese imperial general staff, sat down resolutely, and scrawled his name on the documents as if in a tremendous hurry.

A Japanese colonel present was seen to wipe tears from his eyes as the general signed. All the Japanese looked tense and weary.

Shigemitsu looked on anxiously as Umezu signed.

What Japan Agrees To Do By Surrender

(By The Associated Press)
Article by article here is what Japan agreed to do under the terms of surrender:

1. Accept all provisions of the Potsdam declaration.

2. Surrender unconditionally all armed forces.

3. Cease hostilities forthwith and preserve and save from damage all ships, aircraft and military and civil property.

4. Command imperial general headquarters to issue orders to all field commanders everywhere to surrender their forces unconditionally.

5. See that all civil, military and naval officials obey and enforce all orders of the supreme Allied commander.

6. Carry out in good faith under Allied direction the Potsdam declaration under which free institutions may be established leading to the restoration of sovereignty.

7. Liberate all Allied war prisoners and civilian internees and see that they arrive safely at debarkation points.

8. Acknowledge that the authority of the emperor and the Japanese government is subject to the will of the supreme commander.

A Season For Caution—

After lifting of the long-time restriction on gasoline, the urge of the average motorist now is to step a little heavier on the automobile accelerator. Most cars are in no shape to stand high-speed punishment on the highways. But real danger in the fast-driving impulse fostered by the full gasoline tank is not to the old jalopy itself but to human lives.

Particularly at this season of the year—advent of the opening of public schools—automobile drivers both adult and youth should exercise extreme caution on Sedalia streets.

From now on thousands of children several times a day will be crossing streets. While the major responsibility of protecting pedestrians rests with the driver of a motor car, those on foot should not abandon all caution. They, too, must be alert.

One of the principal introductory talks by teachers to the children in classrooms on school-opening day should be about the matter of crossing streets properly, the importance of looking both directions for approaching traffic, and never darting out into the streets from behind parked automobiles. Even a cautious automobile driver can't cope with that situation.

Children beware; drivers take care! Let's have a Sedalia school year without child fatalities or injuries in automobile accidents.

He Thought of Others—

"He was a balanced man; strong in big things, kind in little things."

The minister said those words at the funeral of my Godfather, Harry S. Jewell, Springfield publisher. The sermon was not long, yet in all that was said, the one sentence: "He was a balanced man; strong in big things, kind in little things," seemed to embrace all that the man accomplished in life, a life of 78 years.

Harry S. Jewell was a big man in Springfield affairs. Albeit he accumulated much in material possessions, he and his good wife, who preceded him in death, were generous and kind. The roster of benefactions bestowed on others will never be known here on earth.

By the oddest circumstances I came to learn of an incident in which the Jewells befriended a distressed family almost fifty years ago.

While attending a newspaper convention in Chicago last October I met a stranger in a hotel lobby. We began a conversation which revealed he was from Iowa. I mentioned my home town, Sedalia. The stranger said he had never been in Sedalia, but was born in Springfield, Mo. I, too, was born in Springfield.

"By the way," continued the stranger, "since you are a newspaper man, you ought to know a man named Jewell down there. He is my Godfather and I am named for him, although I spell my first name Jewel."

This rather surprising coincidence of total strangers meeting in a Chicago hotel lobby and learning their birthplace was the same town and both had the same Godfather, brought our conversation to a more intimate trend.

The Iowan then told the background of his coming into the world as he had received the story in later years from his mother's lips. Before he was born, his mother and father and several children, practically penniless, had set out by wagon from Iowa to seek a livelihood in Arkansas. They had reached Springfield in a destitute condition and camped on the edge of town. That night there was great excitement in town; a hanging was imminent on the square. The father and his wife who was with child were attracted to the scene and mingled with the crowd. The excitement and jostling and reaction from the hanging episode resulted in premature delivery of the child. The plight of the destitute family became known and reached the ears of Mr. Jewell, the newspaper publisher, then a young man.

"Mr. Jewell and his wife saw that mother and myself were properly taken care of—given adequate medical care, shelter and food," the Iowan continued. "My mother was given strength by such unexpected kindness toward our poor family. Before we continued our wagon journey south mother and father were further pleased to have Mr. Jewell become my Godfather at baptismal services. Thus I came by my name—Jewel."

In later years the family returned to Iowa where young Jewel prospered in business. He said he always had it in mind to go to Springfield and call on his Godfather and express again thanks for the kindness shown his family. Whether he ever accomplished the mission I do not know.

The story is just one incident in the life of "a balanced man; strong in big things, kind in little things."

P.O. Approves "One-Holer"—

We are living in a great age of discoveries! For ten years the Inland Press Association, headquarters in Chicago, of which this newspaper is a member, has been sending out frequent bulleting service on postcards which were punched with two holes so the card could be placed conveniently in a file binder.

After ten years of this service the Postoffice Department in Washington has discovered two holes "mutilate" the card and are "agin" the postal regulations.

So now the cards reach us as "one-holers" and we are left to our own devices to punch out the other hole.

The only reason we mention this is that it sounds so much like the era of bureaucratic nonsense which we thought we were getting away from.

Is a Pearl Harbor Trial Necessary—

Responsibility for the Pearl Harbor disaster should be written off as a fiasco, the blame for which cannot rest on any one admiral or one general.

In not demanding a court martial trial, President Truman is exactly right. He knows as well as any one that such a trial would be a legal fiasco as much as Pearl Harbor was a military and naval one.

Already investigators have pointed the wavering finger of blame in several directions—toward ex-Secretary Hull and Gen. Marshall. Even President Roosevelt might have been a bit more circumspect in handling the foreign affairs situation at the time, 'tis intimated.

Before a court martial trial of one admiral and one general was over, the politicians would have had a picnic and the public treated to a sideshow. Nothing much would come of it in the way of punishing the guilty, because too many were guilty. Even as President Truman says, the American public shared the blame by its isolationist attitude, its unwillingness to prepare for approaching war. If any two or three individuals were singled out for punishment there would be more like a barbaric sacrifice.

In the light of what has happened the past few years in preparing for and waging war, we're not likely to be caught napping again soon.

So let's forget about putting somebody on the spot for permitting the Pearl Harbor sneak attack, and get on with a domestic reconstruction program which will create jobs for returning veterans.

And So On, Far Into The Future—

If we must continue with this Pearl Harbor investigation why not have investigators investigate the army and navy investigators whose Pearl Harbor investigation report turned out to be so unsatisfactory and uninforming.

The Daily Washington

Merry-Go-Round

by Drew Pearson

(NOTE — Drew Pearson is on vacation. In his absence, Bart Crum, west coast campaign manager for Wendell Willkie and an independent Republican, contributes a guest column.)

By Bart Crum.
Chairman, Independent Republicans for Roosevelt.

SAN FRANCISCO — Sept. 2—How I wish Wendell Willkie could be alive today to watch his realistic dream of one world now emerging on the stage of history! No man cherished greater hopes and ideals for the peace of the world; and no man, in my opinion would have had greater capacity to help carry them out.

I have been thinking back over some of the days I spent with Wendell Willkie. And in this hour of victory, which as much as anyone's is also Willkie's hour, I take advantage of Drew Pearson's invitation to set down some of my reminiscences.

Those of us who traveled with Mr Willkie will always remember what a good listener he was, how seldom and how briefly he dominated the conversation. His idea of a good dinner was thick steak, baked potatoes, apple pie and cheese — set in a framework of challenging and interesting talk.

His honesty went beyond words into the realm of deeds. In 1940 the then governor of Kansas warned Willkie that he had been photographed smoking a cigarette and that the prairie grapevine shuddered with the rumor that he occasionally enjoyed a highball. Such a waster could never hope to win pious Kansas votes, the governor said. Months later, Mr. Willkie commented, "and the strange part of it was that the good governor was voted out of office on the same day that Kansas gave me a majority."

On the campaign train, no one managed Wendell Willkie. He listened to advice, weighed the evidence, and made his own decisions. When other men grew tense, when tempers flared and personality defenses were thin, his trenchant humor, often earthy and always in sharp focus, brought harmony out of approaching chaos and re-formed into an integrated team divergent viewpoints and antagonistic strategies.

Many people have now forgotten Willkie's visit to Britain and his utterly courageous support of Great Britain, standing alone and leonine in defense of civilization. At that time it was not a popular move. How the isolationists hated him for it! How the "wise" politicians tut-tutted his outspoken support of decency and democracy, when evasion would have been so much more "adroit."

And so we come to Willkie's last year, his tentative re-entry into the political life and his crusade to save the GOP from the blind oligarchy of its entrenched leadership, to his defeat in Wisconsin, his withdrawal as a candidate, and his cavalier exclusion from the 1944 GOP convention, a body whose leadership welcomed Herbert Hoover on their platform.

Always the fighting philosopher Wendell Willkie wanted to carry the battle to that Chicago gathering. His comment on his rebuff was typically without malice: "The opportunity never came."

In retrospect, Wendell Willkie — as I know him — seems so eternally and inescapably right on all essential issues. Office in itself was unimportant, offering merely a functional means toward a necessary end. Tories flamed in self-righteous indignation when he successfully defended Schneiderman, the Communist, from deportation before the supreme court. In the eyes of many lawyers, only a $100,000 fee could have faintly justified such a departure from the tribal code of the predators. But Mr. Willkie accepted no compensation. To him, the Schneiderman case crystallized as the defense of a principle, not of an individual.

Where others deprecated mildly, Wendell Willkie moved boldly in his radio "open letter" on the Detroit race riots. He looked with puzzled contempt on the political type which struggles furiously in vain effort to press both ears to the earth in futile hope of riding — not leading — the waves of public opinion. Who of our days was more tersely and accurately diagnosed the morass of religious prejudice than this forthright warrior when he said:

"Anti-Semitism is not a germ which can be isolated or confined to any one group in our society. The total destruction which it works can be prevented only when a sufficient immunity against it exists throughout the community. This immunity can be created through continuous education and constant use of democratic practices."

The man, repudiated by the GOP high command, was opposed to Communism in principle but could not see that doctrine as a threat to an enlightened and self-disciplined free enterprise system.

I have heard him talk — his eyes alight, his huge frame tense with conviction — on the future cooperative world, with the United States and Soviet Russia, especially, working together to make it. He admired Russia — "In its vigor, its vast dreams, its energy, its tenacity of purpose."

"I have never understood why it should be assumed that in any possible contact between Communism and Democracy, Democracy should go down," he said. "I believe it is possible for Russia and America, perhaps the most powerful countries in the world, to work together for the economic welfare and the peace of the world."

He was tremendously interested in Russian war relief, which sends donated supplies of all kinds to be used in the great devastated areas of Russia. The personal touch of gifts from the American people to the Russian people was one of the steps toward true understanding that he so thoroughly approved. In one speech, he said:

"The Russian people are turning to the democracies of the west for hope and aid. We must not fail them. . . . The Russian people, who are our allies today, must be our friends tomorrow. It is with them that we must work to make this war what their leader has called it: 'A great war of liberation.'"

What has happened to the heritage Wendell Willkie left to the Republican party? With the memory of this man's principles unfading in the rush of current history, it is small wonder that former Republicans by the hundreds of thousands have become Democrats as a choice of evils. It is small wonder that an equal number are finding it increasingly difficult to give unswerving yet thoughtful allegiance to a Republican party whose senators provided 14 of the 16 votes cast against the Bretton Woods agreements, and whose only living ex-president has recently attacked the victorious British labor

Unless it views its failures in honest and soul-searching humility, which seems most unlikely, it will forfeit this heritage, and it can hope for no better epitaph than, "Slain by the futile obliquity of meagre minds and shallow souls."

Looking Backward Forty Years Ago

Labor Day will be generally observed in Sedalia Monday, and after the noon hour business will be practically suspended. The committees having charge of the celebration at Liberty park during the afternoon have completed their arrangements and propitious weather is all that is necessary to make the event the most successful in the history of organized labor in Central Missouri. The Labor day souvenir programme was issued last evening from the office of the Sedalia Printing company and it is truly a work of art. It was planned by E. T. Behrens, the labor leader, who is chairman of the committee, and John Whelan, the machinist, secretary with the assistance of the general labor day committees.

THE STORY: The tension between Thayer and Brock's mother flares into open antagonism with his return. Mrs. Kittredge has arranged a small sleeping room for Brock on the first floor so that he won't have to climb the stairs.

THEY were alone, she and Brock. Her heart beat heavily and her throat felt tight. She found she was trembling and held herself stiffly to conceal it.

Brock let himself down into the chair as if he no longer had the strength to remain standing. Clear to her mind came remembrance of how he used to stand in that lightly-balanced way of his. She remembered—dear Lord what a time to be remembering—the coordinated grace of their dancing together. An agony of feeling swept her. "Brock..."

"I make a helluva mess of getting around," Brock said harshly, and the tight-lipped grimace of his smile tore at her.

"Brock, anything takes practice." Oh, she shouldn't have said that; he seemed to pounce upon the words.

"Practice! Well, I ought to get good—with the rest of my life to spend at it."

He had placed the crutches so that they stuck out beside him like a barrier, his injured leg was on the other side. She said unsteadily, "You're back, Brock; that's everything that matters."

"Is it?" His gaze swept her then dropped to the injured leg. The voice, controlled, almost emotionless, did not sound like Brock's at all. "You know what I thought—when I found—that had happened to me?"

"What?" Thayer asked eagerly. If he'd talk to her, if this wall between them would go down. "Tell me, Brock."

He was running nervous fingers up and down the polished wood of one of the crutches. Then he known and most popular lawyers, who had been in ill health for several months died at his home, 618 West Seventh street at 12:40 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

George Lister, the buck and wing dancer, won the prize of $5 in the amateurs' contest at Wood's opera house Friday night. At Crystal Park theater Earl Castle gave the army calls on a bugle, winning the $5 there.

The Porter Real Estate Co., yesterday sold Circuit Clerk C. W. Daugherty's elegant new home, northeast corner of Third and Monticue streets to George F. Olenford, manager of the new opera house, the consideration being $6,500.

Trash Fire

The fire department made a run to Sixth street and Summit avenue where at 11:32 a. m. Saturday a burning trash fire was discovered. No damage was caused.

She could bear no more. The words were a cry wrung from her. "Brock, have you forgotten Drumhead Hill?"

HIS face was a brittle thing that shattered as she watched. His arms went around her waist, his face was pressed hard against her, he was crying, his whole body writhing with sobs. She cradled his head, stroking back his hair, feeling his forehead damp with sweat. She was tearless. A fierce protectiveness that seemed torn from the very core of her being. It rose in her like a fire which would fan at last into the hotter flame of passion.

Through the house without warning sounded the deep summons of a gong. Startled as if by human intrusion Brock and Thayer drew apart. It meant only that dinner was in five minutes, but the thought came through Thayer's mind that it was signalling Time up! on their privacy.

They did not look at each other. Thayer spoke first. It was as if she wanted to shield Brock from having to face her after his breakdown. The moment that might have brought them together lay shattered. Her action was instinctive, beyond her explanation.

"That's for dinner. I'll go freshen up; you'll want to, too. Emma will have outdone herself."

Words. Bright ballast to tip things back to normalcy. "Sure, good old Emma," Brock's voice a little gruff, but steady.

Thayer touched his shoulder lightly. "I'll be down in a minute."

Upstairs reaction set in. Three times her shaking fingers smudged the lipstick. Deep in her mind was a formless anger against Mrs. Kittredge. She shied away from it. She kept saying to herself, "Everything is going to be all right." She told herself, There are others going through this; I'm not the only one. Everywhere men were coming home whom war had changed, home to girls ignorant of the harsh mold that had refashioned their men. If only she'd known Brock a little better, a little longer. . . .

Lt. George R. Holbert Awarded Distinguished Flying Cross

FORT SAM HOUSTON, Tex.—More than two years ago 1st Lt. George R. Holbert left the Air Force as a B-17 aerial gunner and radio operator to become a signal corps officer. Recently with four Pacific and five European theatre battle stars, four Aid Medals and the Purple Heart to his credit, Holbert was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross. The medal was presented by Col. Robert E. Jones, commanding officer of the Army Ground and Service Forces Redistribution Station, Fort Sam Houston, Tex., where Holbert is awaiting reassignment after completing 13 months of service in Europe.

The two-theatre veteran received the DFC for extraordinary achievement in the Solomon Islands while participating in 200 additional hours of operational flights during the period November 29, 1942 to January 28, 1943.

He won his first Air Medal as a staff sergeant with the 26th Heavy Bombardment Squadron, 11th Heavy Bombardment Group, one of the most famous in the early days of the Pacific war. Holbert, a radio operator and aerial gunner at the time, was cited for action against the Japanese on October 15, 1942. His B-17 was proceeding on a mission to bomb enemy shipping and installations at Kokombuona, Guadalcanal, in the Solomons, when an enemy transport was sighted in the harbor. The ship was landing troops and supplies. In spite of heavy anti-aircraft fire and attacks by enemy fighters, Holbert and other members of the crew dropped their bombs with such effectiveness that the transport was left in flames.

His second Aid Medal was won for participating in 50 B-17 operational missions from the start of air operations in the South Pacific, to January 1, 1943.

His third Cluster to the Air Medal was received for participating in an attack on a Jap naval force in the Solomons on the night of August 24, 1942. Despite heavy anti-aircraft fire and opposition from some 15 enemy planes, which severely damaged all of the United States bombers taking part in the attack, the large enemy force was bombed by a formation of four B-17's. During the engagement against the task force, which consisted of one bat-fortress were wounded in the duel. Holbert entered the Air Force as a private in 1939. He belonged to the 25th Attack Squadron, which was based at Hickam Field, Oahu. After Pearl Harbor—Holbert was out on a mission at the time of the raid—the outfit became the 26th Medium Bomber Squadron, and operated for about a year as a training unit. In February, 1940, the unit became a heavy bombardment squadron.

In March, 1943, Holbert returned from the Pacific. He received a signal corps commission at Fort Monmouth, N. J., where he was stationed for a year. On D plus 20 he went into Europe as a radio engineer with a mobile unit of the Psychological Warfare Division, operating from Radio Luxembourg, among other places.

Lieut. Holbert is the husband of Florence G. Holbert, and father of Edwin Scott Holbert, who lives at 1202 South Lamine avenue, Sedalia Mo. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roy G. Holbert, 211 North Sixth street, Lamar, Colo.

Expecting a Baby?

Mother's Friend massaging preparation helps bring ease and comfort to expectant mothers.

MOTHER'S FRIEND, an exquisitely prepared emollient, is useful in all conditions where a bland, mild anodyne massage medium in skin lubrication is desired. One condition in which women for more than 70 years have used it is an application for massaging the body during pregnancy... it helps keep the skin soft and pliable... thus avoiding unnecessary discomfort due to dryness and tightness. It refreshes and tones the skin. An ideal massage application for the numb, tingling or burning sensations of the skin... for the tired back muscles or cramp-like pains in the legs. Quickly absorbed. Delightful to use. Highly praised by users, many doctors and nurses. Millions of bottles sold. Just ask any druggist for Mother's Friend—the skin emollient and lubricant. Do try it.

Labor Dignity Is Recognized

bor's patriotic steadfastness, this year it is a pleasure to invite labor to celebrate its magnificent accomplishments in winning the war."

President's Tribute

In his tribute to labor Mr. Truman said:

"Six years ago the workers of the United States and of the world, awoke to a Labor Day in a world at war. The democracies of western Europe and had just accepted the challenge of totalitarianism. We in the United States had two years of grace, but the issue was squarely joined at that hour, as we now know. There was to be no peace until tyranny had been outlawed. "Today we stand on the threshold of a new world. We must do our part in making this world what it should be—a world in which the bigotries of race and class and creed shall not be permitted to warp the souls of men.

"We enter upon an era of great problems, but to live is to face problems. Our men and women did not falter in the task of saving freedom. They will not falter now in the task of making freedom secure. And high in the ranks of those men and women, as a grateful world will always remember, are the workers of all free nations who produced the vast equipment with which the victory was won.

"The tasks ahead are great, and the opportunities are equally great. Your government is determined to meet those tasks and fulfill those opportunities.

"We recognize the importance and dignity of labor, and we recognize the right of every American citizen to a wage which will permit him and his dependents to maintain a decent standard of living."

Coal Dealers Discuss Prices

Sedalia Coal dealers, about eight in number, met Thursday night in the office of the Sedalia Credit Exchange to talk over the coal situation, and to discuss principally the OPA ceiling prices for this area, which will be top prices for all coal.

Charles Maggard, president of the Coal Dealers Association presided.

Prices will be about the same as last year, some a little less, making the average about the same. The coal situation is better, that is more coal is available to the dealers, but their problem locally is getting drivers and workers. One dealer who had a car of coal was unable to find workers to unload it, for three days. He was willing to turn it over to another dealer, who might have the help, but all were practically in the same situation.

Proclaim Today As V-J Day In Great Victory

ies as to just what V-J means, the President repeated previous assertions that it has no legal meaning. Here is what he said on this point:

"As President of the United States, I proclaim Sunday, Sept. 2, 1945, to be V-J Day—the day of formal surrender by Japan. "It is not yet the day for the formal proclamation of the end of the war or of the cessation of hostilities. But it is a day which we Americans shall always remember as a day of retribution—as we remember that other day, the day of infamy."

Mr. Truman thus adopted the words of his predecessor, the late President Roosevelt, in referring to Dec. 7, 1941.

The President spoke from the broadcast room on the first floor of the White House. He had been listening to the radio description of the surrender ceremony when tuned in on the hook up with the Missouri. The program continued when he finished his 1200-word speech.

"From this day we move forward," he said. "We move toward a new era of security at home. With the other United Nations we move toward a new and better world of peace and international goodwill and cooperation.

"God's help has brought us to this day of victory. With his help we will attain that peace and prosperity for ourselves and all the world in the year ahead."

The President after paying tribute to those who died in the war, and millions of other United States and Allied participants, including battlefield and homefront fighters and workers, voiced a eulogy for his predecessor:

"We think our departed gallant leader, Franklin D. Roosevelt, a defender of democracy, architect of world peace and cooperation."

The President said the formal Japanese surrender means a victory of more than arms alone.

"This is a victory of liberty over tyranny," he declared.

He said to all Americans there comes first "a sense of gratitude to Almighty God who sustained us and our Allies in the dark days of grave danger, who made us to grow from weakness into the strongest fighting force in history, and who now has seen us overcome the forces of tyranny that sought to destroy his civilization. "God grant that in our pride of the hour we may not forget the hard tasks that are still before us; that we may approach these with the same courage, zeal and patience with which we faced the trials and problems of the past four years."

Pfc. Wahlers Back To Duty

Pfc. Harry E. Wahlers, who returned from overseas duty in July where he had served with the eighty-seventh division, spent a thirty-two days furlough with his wife and son, Larry, at 120 Chestnut street, and also with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wahlers, 419 North Hill street.

He returned with four battle stars, a good conduct medal and combat infantry badge.

The unit to which he belonged is being disintegrated and those of its members to remain in the service are being assigned to other divisions.

On leaving Sedalia he proceeded to Jefferson Barracks and from there was assigned to Fort Benning, Ga.

Surrender Complete As Japanese Sign Up

for Lt. Gen. Jonathan Wainwright of Bataan and Corregidor and Lt. Gen. Sir Arthur Percival of Singapore to step forward.

These two defeated Allied commanders, now savoring their hour of triumph, stepped up, and Wainwright helped MacArthur take his seat.

MacArthur signed the documents with five pens.

The first he handed immediately to General Wainwright, the second to General Percival.

The third was an ordinary ship-board navy issue pen.

MacArthur then produced a fourth pen, presumably to be sent to President Truman.

Then he completed his signatures with still a fifth, possibly a trophy to be retained by himself.

General Wainwright and Percival, both obviously happy, saluted snappily.

Nimitz Signs For U. S.

They were followed by serene-faced Admiral Nimitz, who signed on behalf of the United States.

Next came China's representative.

General MacArthur acted as a brisk master of ceremonies. He made a brief introductory statement before the Japanese signed, then called upon each nation's signer in turn to step forward.

The United Kingdom's signature was followed by that of Soviet Russia.

The Russian staff officer signed quickly, scooting his chair into a more comfortable position even as he was signing.

Sign For Other Powers

MacArthur smiled approvingly as the Russian rose and saluted. Quickly in turn, Australian, Canadian, French, Dutch and New Zealand representatives signed in that order.

The Australian, Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey, happened to sign the Japanese copy first, with an expression that denoted it didn't make any difference.

Wainwright, by his own request, was accompanied by his chief of staff, Brig. Gen. Lewis Beebe; his aides, Col. John Pugh and Lt. Col. Thomas Dooley, and his orderly-chef, Sgt. Herbert Carroll. Percival was accompanied by his orderly.

Among United States naval officers present were Admiral Nimitz, who signed for his country; his chief of staff, Vics Adm. Forrest C. Sherman; Admiral Halsey; Vice Admiral John A. Towers, commander of naval air in the Pacific; Vice Adm. Theodore C. Wilkinson, who directed many amphibious landings under both Halsey and Adm. Thomas C. Kinkaid, commander of the Seventh Fleet; Rear Adm. Oscar C. Badger, commander of the task force which landed occupation troops, and Commander Maher, recently liberated officer of the cruiser Houston, lost early in 1942.

Lt. Gen. Robert E. Geiger, commander of marine forces in the Pacific, represented the Marine Corps, as Nimitz' guest.

U. S. Army officers present included Generals Spaatz, Kenney, and Eichelberger and Lt. Gen. Robert C. Richardson, Jr., commander of U. S. Army forces in the Central Pacific.

Several Americans recently liberated from Japanese prisoner or war camps also viewed the ceremonies.

The scene in Tokyo Bay was largely obscured by clouds which hung fairly low amid the surrounding hills.

The flags of the United States, Britain, Russia, and China fluttered from the verandah deck of the Missouri. More than 100 high ranking military and naval officers of the Allies were in the colorfully-uniformed group watching the ceremony.

MacArthur, in his opening remarks, declared:

"It is my earnest hope and indeed the hope of all mankind that from this solemn occasion a better world shall emerge out of the blood and carnage of the past.

Finally, after New Zealand's signature, less than 20 minutes from the start of the ceremony, the sun broke through the clouds, and MacArthur formally and in a firm voice declared the proceedings closed.

The Japanese prepared to depart immediately, their bitter chore accomplished.

MacArthur informed the Japanese that "as supreme commander for the Allied powers I announce it my firm purpose in the tradition of the countries I represent to proceed in the discharge of my responsibilities with justice and tolerance, while taking all necessary dispositions to insure that the terms of surrender are fully, promptly and faithfully complied with."

All through this dramatic half hour, only those aboard the battleship knew of what was transpiring because the Missouri has no broadcasting facilities.

But recordings were rushed to the nearby communications ship Ancon, and the solemn words of MacArthur beginning the ceremony—"We are gathered here, representatives of the major warring powers"—were flashed around the world.

"An enclosing a photograph of a road within our base camp area which was recently dedicated to the memory of your son, as a mark of the admiration and respect felt for him by his comrades.

"I can pay this gallant corpsman no higher tribute than to echo the words of the order naming the road, a copy of which I am also sending you.

"Your son's name will not be forgotten and his devotion to duty and brave spirit will be an inspiration and example to all of us in the hard battles which still lie ahead.

"Very sincerely,

"Major General G. B. Erskin."

The Order Follows

"Naming the road within battalion area."

"1. Effective this date the road branching off March Road and running down through "A" company area is hereby known as "Willis street."

"2. Pharmacist mate third class Willis joined the Third Medical Battalion October 17, 1943.

"3. Pharmacist mate third class was attached to Co. "A" Third Medical Battalion for the Guam campaign and on the night of July 21, 1944, one of an infiltration enemy force threw a hand grenade into his fox-hole killing him instantly."

Young Willis was a nephew of Mrs. Nellie Wharton, 1411 South Grand avenue.

Hot Oratory For Congress

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(P)—An official call went out today for the reconvening Wednesday of a congress already storing up plenty of hot oratory and trouble for the administration.

The big job, of course, will be to remodel old laws and enact new ones to help ease the country into a peacetime way of life.

Eventually congress may get around to lowering taxes, perhaps on next year's incomes, which always is a popular procedure with both the legislators and the people.

But in the more immediate picture—and here's where trouble for the administration comes in—are such items as more unemployment compensation for idle war workers, assuring opportunities for jobs, continuing the draft, giving veterans back their old jobs and determining who gets fired.

Also coming up are disposal of left-over war supplies, consolidating or abolishing some government agencies in the interest of economy and efficiency, merging the army and navy under one command.

President Truman wants action on most of these, and congress will hear from him again Wednesday or Thursday.

Senate Majority Leader Barkley of Kentucky, one of the leaders who wired absent members that "legislative expediency" requires that congress get back on the job next week, saw Mr. Truman today. The presidential message, he said, will cover reconversion, termination of lend-lease, and a good many other things.

Cpl. Louis Hall Has Been Cited

Cpl. Louis E. Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hall, 1205 South Kentucky avenue, who for about nineteen months has been serving in the European area in the 231st Armored Field Artillery Battalion, has received the following citation:

"This certificate of merit is awarded to Cpl. Louis E. Hall, Army Serial No. 20746884, 231st Armored Field Artillery Battalion, in recognition of conspicuously meritorious and outstanding performance of military duty during the period 27 July, 1944 to 8 May, 1945. As gunner his exemplary performance of every task assigned him contributed to the smooth operation of his organization.

"R. W. Brow, Major General, U. S. A. Commanding 6th Armored division."

Cpl. Hall left Sedalia with the National Guards in October 1943 went overseas December 5, 1940 and is now believed to be on his way home.

He has ninety-four points to his credit under the point system and will receive his discharge.

Unique Vegetables

Mrs. J. H. Rau, Route 4, Sedalia, sent to the Democrat-Capital office twin peppers and triplet tomatoes. Two perfectly formed mango peppers grew together at the top and three small tomatoes had grown into a clover shape.

Mr. Rau brought the freak vegetables to the newspaper and stated that he has taken the Democrat-Capital for more than fifty years.

Legislature Returns To Its Task Tuesday

Major One Will Be Revision Of The Laws Of State

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 1.—The Missouri state legislature, after working the greater part of six months on regular session business, comes back to the capitol Tuesday still faced with its major task of revising state laws to conform with the 1945 constitution.

The lawmakers took a two-month summer recess June 29, with skeleton sessions held in each house every ten days to keep the 63rd general assembly alive.

Meanwhile special revision committees worked at the job of outlining necessary statute changes.

The revision work is expected to keep legislators in the capitol city well into the spring of 1946.

Earlier this year it was estimated that between 3,000 and 10,000 laws would have to be rewritten.

Two Issues Controversial

Very few major bills have been laid over from the spring session but two of them represent highly controversial problems.

1. The Quinn bill. Passed by the senate and now in house committee, it would increase the number of state highway commissioners from four to ten—one from each highway department district. Metropolitan leaders complain it is an attempt to give rural sections control of the commission. Proponents declare it is the only assurance of getting needed roads and highways for all parts of the state.

2. House bill 138. It provides a four-year university medical school with the last two years of study in Kansas City. The bill, drawing the fire of both rural legislators and the university board of curators, squeaked through the house with three votes to spare and now is in the hands of the senate education committee.

Several other bills, including the ever-present "fair trade" bill, may cause eruptions of argument.

House floor leader Randall Kitt (R) of Livingston county declared himself in favor of temporarily shelving revision and holdover work to get out peacetime bills that might enhance Missouri's position in aviation, commerce and industry. One of the bills he proposes would increase the appropriation for the state resources and development commission.

Along the same lines, Governor Donnelly said he is considering a message to the general assembly shortly after it reconvenes, suggesting legislation for furthering Missouri's reconversion and promotion in peacetime pursuits.

Bar Group Approves Salary Hike To Judges

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 1.—(P)—A proposed bill to increase the salaries of supreme court and circuit court judges was approved today by the board of governors of the Missouri bar.

Charles L. Carr of Kansas City, president, said the proposal eliminates criticisms made by Gov. Phil Donnelly in vetoing senate bill 126, a similar measure.

Salary increase proposals of $12,500 for supreme court judges and $10,000 for appellate court judges are unchanged from the former senate bill.

The proposal includes $10,000 a year for circuit court judges in St. Louis city and Jackson county. Each unit of government is to pay one-half the salary expense. Governor Donnelly in his veto of the previous bill objected to the state assuming the entire burden.

Charges After Cars Were In Collision

At 10:00 o'clock Saturday night, the automobiles of Lester E. Shepard, Route 4, Sedalia, and W. A. Cummings, Atoka, Okla., collided at the corner of Second street and Osage avenue. Mrs. Nell Frost, Parsons, Kas., was driving the automobile of Cummings without a driver's license.

She posted a $10.00 bond on being booked for driving without a license and a $25.00 bond for reckless driving. Shepard also gave a $25.00 bond on being booked for reckless driving. They will appear before Magistrate C. W. Bente Monday morning.

Nervous Trend To Rye Futures

By Willard Robertson
CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—(P)—The rye futures market was as nervous as a fall today, opening lower and then jumping around within a 2 cent range to close with mixed trends. Wheat steadied after an early downturn but oats, corn and barley were weak.

Rye has climbed as much as 20 cents in 10 days on reports of export demand, but selling which started late yesterday continued at the start today due to lack of confirmation of any domestic business with foreign countries. Frequent rallies today apparently were due to a short-coverage on strength at Winnipeg, where the close was 1/4 to 2 cents a bushel higher.

Rye closed 1/2 cent higher to 3/4 cent lower than the previous finish. September $1.65 1/4, corn was unchanged to 1/4 cent off, December $1.14 1/4, oats were down 1/4 to 1/2 cent, September 57 1/2 to 58c, and barley was 1/4 to 1/2 cent lower, September $1.06 1/4.

The Commodity Credit Corporation purchased about 300,000 bushels of winter wheat yesterday, 100,000 in Chicago, 150,000 at Kansas City, and 50,000 at Omaha. About 300,000 bushels of oats were bought at the same prices today at Minneapolis.

Caution Given To Motorists

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 1 — (P)—With the first week-end holiday approaching since gas rationing ended, Col. Hugh Waggoner, superintendent of the Missouri State Highway Patrol, Friday cautioned motorists to watch their speeds and to exercise more than ever their good judgment.

"Defective tires, old equipment, drivers who are rusty and unused to highway driving all form a combination certain to result in traffic accidents unless speeds are controlled and everyone gives undivided attention to his driving," Waggoner said.

Last year's Labor Day highway deaths totaled but seven compared with 18 for the corresponding week-end in 1941. But highway fatalities are once more on the increase. The patrol reported 52 deaths for last July, exactly twice the figure for July of 1944.

Limit Hunters To Hundred Shells

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 — (P)—Nimrods will be limited to 100 shotgun shells during the forthcoming hunting season.

Ration in the first year of peace will be no larger than in the last year of war.

Because of the continued shortage of lead, the war production board announced today, the same limits as last year will remain in effect this hunting season.

In addition to 100 shotgun shells of any gauge, a hunter also may purchase 150 rounds of .22-caliber rim fire cartridges, and 40 rounds of center-fire rifle ammunition (or 50 rounds if packaged 50 to the box.)

This makes a total of eight boxes of ammunition of all kinds. To get it a hunter must sign a certificate provided by WPB to suppliers.

Farmers, ranchers, professional hunters and trappers, including Alaskans and Eskimos, may obtain larger allotments by signing a certificate saying they need it in connection with the safe-guarding of crops or the earning of a livelihood.

Apparently anticipating questions from hunters as to why it is necessary to continue restrictions, WPB Chairman J. A. Krug said in a statement:

"The answer is that cartridges used for warfare are too powerful and too large for use in civilian-type guns, except for small amounts of shells used in army airforces training programs."

Child Drowns In Pool Of Water

VERSAILLES, Mo., September 1 —Jimmy Bryan Anderson, Jr., two-year-old son of Pvt. and Mrs. James B. Anderson, drowned Tuesday in a pool of water near their residence at Green Cove Springs, Fla., relatives here have been notified. The child wandered out of the house while the parents were packing, preparatory to leaving for Versailles Wednesday to visit relatives. His body was later found in the pool about 200 yards from the house. The body was brought here for burial Saturday.

Surviving, besides his parents, are the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Anderson of Gravois Mills, and Willie Meyer of Versailles; a great grandmother, Mrs. Mary Meyer and an aunt, Miss Florence Meyer, Morgan county clerk, of Versailles. Private Anderson, who is a marine, returned to the states from the Southwest Pacific last spring.

Pfc. Waddell Killed In Camp

J. H. Waddell, of Versailles, received word from the government headquarters Thursday that his son, Pvt. first class George M. Waddell, who has been a prisoner of the Japanese since 1941, was killed at Puerto Princesa prison camp in the Philippine Islands on Dec. 14, 1944. Private Waddell was captured on Corregidor and was a marine. He is survived by two brothers, Lt. Bill F. Waddell of Waco, Tex., and Pvt. Johnny Waddell, who is enroute to Japan, his father, of Versailles, and his mother, Mrs. Nannie Green of Kansas City.

Guests at Shower for Bride

vell, Miss Clara Mabry, Miss Ruth Wasson, Miss Mary Ann McGurren, Mrs. Maurice Wasson, Miss Margaret Karrigan, Miss Marjorie Bliss, Miss Georgia Pinson, Miss Wilma Houx and Miss Juanita Lyle. (Snyder Photo)

In a double ring ceremony performed at 9 o'clock Thursday morning at Sacred Heart church, Miss Ruth Elizabeth Franklin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Howell, 237-A South Quincy avenue, became the bride of Staff Sergeant John Vandekamp, U. S. Army Air Forces, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Vandekamp of Sassenheim, Holland.

The Rev. Andrew J. Brunswick said the nuptial mass.

The bride's gown of satin and tulle was fashioned with a tight bodice of the satin, long sleeves pointed over the hand and sweet-heart neckline, and the skirt of tulle extended into a long train. Her fingertip length veil of tulle, designed with a pleated frill, was secured in place by orange blossoms. She carried an arm bouquet of orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. Elliott McElroy, the matron of honor, wore an aqua gown of satin and tulle styled similarly to the bridal gown. The sleeves were bracelet length. Her arm bouquet of light peach gladioli matched her pale shell net veil which fell from a bonnet effect.

Technical Sergeant Ted Neuner of Jefferson City, who served overseas with the bridegroom, acted as best man.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Earl Paxton, organist, played "Meditation" and the Bridal Chorus from Wagner's "Lohengrin" as the bridal party entered the church and walked down the aisle. During the mass "On This Day," and "O Beautiful Mother" was sung by Misses Anne Hurley, Ida Myers, Earleen and Elaine Paxton, from the choir loft. At the offertory Mrs. Paxton played Schubert's "Ave Maria" and during the communion the quartet of girls softly sang "O Lord I Am Not Worthy." Organ strains of "Kudrulle" were followed by the Mendelssohn Wedding March as the recessional.

Palms and huckleberry and baskets of white gladioli and tuberoses decorated the chancel of the church. Candles were lighted by John Hurley and James Cooney who served as altar boys.

Following the ceremony a breakfast was given by Mr. and Mrs. Howell for the bridal party, members of the immediate family and a few close friends in the Palm room of Hotel Bothwell. A centerpiece of white gladioli and tuberoses and festoons of smilax and tuberoses decorated the table. Mrs. Howell wore a tailored grey suit with white blouse, grey sailor trimmed in fuchsia and other accessories of black. Her corsage was of gardenias.

After the breakfast Sergeant and Mrs. Vandekamp left for a short wedding trip. For her going-away costume the bride chose a tailored black gabardine suit, white blouse and black accessories. She wore a corsage of orchids.

Mrs. Vandekamp is a graduate of Smith-Cotton high school and attended Central Missouri State college for a year and a half. She has since been employed at the Howell Seed and Dairy Supply Co. The bridegroom, who was graduated from high school in Sassenheim and from the Horticultural college at Lisse, Holland, first came to this country in 1935, accompanied by his father, to study conversational English. He subsequently returned to the United States at intervals on business trips, as an associate with his father and brothers who owned and operated the Vandekamp Bulb Farms, a firm which engaged in export trade prior to the war.

Enroute to his home, via England, when Holland fell to the German armies he returned to the United States and entered the U. S. Army Air Forces November 3, 1942. Sergeant Vandekamp left for overseas duty May 23, 1943, receiving his final American citizenship papers the day before embarkation. With the Ninth Air Force he served in England, France, Belgium and Germany.

and returned to the States ten days ago.

Before leaving Europe he visited his parents and other members of his family in Holland.

Following a 30-day furlough he will report to Jefferson Barracks for assignment. He is a partner with Mr. Howell in the Howell company here and after completing his service will return to Sedalia to resume his duties.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Hargrove, 1408 South Monticau avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen, to the Rev. Ralph Tomek of Wright City, Mo.

Miss Hargrove and Mr. Tomek attended Hannibal-LaGrange college, Hannibal, and both will enter William Jewell college, Liberty, this fall.

The wedding date has not been set.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Powell of Clarksburg, Mo., announce the marriage of their daughter, Nadine Fischer, to Staff Sergeant Russell R. Conn, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell R. Conn, 820 West Third street, Sedalia.

The wedding took place at the home of the pastor of the First Baptist church, Dr. Thomas W. Croxton, 511 West Broadway, at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. The double ring ceremony was used.

Mrs. Earl Hall McDonald, sister of the bride, of Clarksburg, was matron of honor, and Alton W. Joyce of Clinton was best man.

The bride wore a chartruese dress and a picture hat of black with black accessories and a corsage of gardenias. The matron of honor wore a black sheer frock with black accessories and a corsage of pink gladioli.

Following the wedding a three-course dinner was served at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Conn. A three-tier wedding cake was placed on a polished white maple stand and was illuminated by four tall tapers in crystal candle holders. Bouquets of flowers completed the decorations in the dining room.

Guests included the bridal party, the parents of the bride and groom and Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Ray of Sedalia. Sgt. Richard Dean Conn, brother of the bridegroom, is expected to arrive home soon following service in Europe.

Staff Sergeant Conn, who entered service in December, 1942, has been in the ETO for nine months and was through six foreign countries, serving in the U. S. Third army under the command of Gen. George S. Patton, Jr. Sgt. Conn, who recently returned home, has been awarded three battle stars and a unit citation. He has a 30-day furlough after which he will report at Fort Jackson, S. C., for reassignment.

After the dinner the bridal couple left for the Lake of the Oaks on their honeymoon.

In a double ring ceremony Miss Ruth Garrison, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Garrison, 912 East Fourth street, Sedalia and Pfc. Kenneth Hammond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Hammond, of Centerville, route 1, were married in Warrensburg, August 12 by the Rev. Ross E. Edwards, at his home.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Wanda Garrison, of Sedalia and the bridegroom's sister, Miss Theresa Hammond, of Kansas City. She wore a street length dress of light blue, with black accessories, and a corsage of white roses.

Pfc. Hammond was attended by Pfc. Roy Seaman, of Warrensburg and Sgt. Robert Jerry Santon, of Liberty, the bride's cousin. Mrs. Hammond was born and reared in Sedalia, receiving her education here.

Relatives and close friends attended the ceremony and later went to Sheppard's park, Warrensburg, to attend a wedding supper, in the form of a picnic, after which the couple went on a short honeymoon.

Pfc. Hammond has returned to base assignment after serving in the 7th Army in the European theatre of war for two years.

Mrs. Hammond is staying with her parents until she can leave for Maryland to join her husband.

Wedding Party

Wedding party of Corporal and Mrs. Dante Bassi, who were married Sunday afternoon, August 26, at the Fifth Street Methodist church. They are left to right: T. Sgt. John M. Wagner, Mrs. Glenn L. King, Mrs. Bassi, the former Miss Lelola Bradley of Sedalia, Corporal Bassi and Rev. H. U. Campbell, who officiated at the service. Mrs. Bassi is the daughter of Mrs. Zella Bradley of Clinton and Corporal Bassi is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Bassi of Bronx, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Young, 907 East Fourth street entertained at a miscellaneous shower for Pfc. and Mrs. Kenneth Hammond, nee Miss Ruth Garrison, at her home.

Awards in the game of the evening went to Mrs. A. Goldsmith, Mrs. Mary Ellis, Miss Mabel Corrine, Miss Dorothy Aldredge and Louis Powell.

Refreshments were served the guests, who were: Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rodell, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ellis and children, Mr. and Mrs. John Hammond and son, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Holeman and son, Mr. and Mrs. R. Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Garrison, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hammond and son, Mrs. Lloyd Wasson and son, Mrs. James Miss Gertrude E. Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Davis, 1305 North Grand avenue, this city, and Corporal Orville F. Jennings, son of Mrs. Mary Jennings, Neosho, Mo., were married at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday, August 21, at Kansas City, Kas.

The bride chose as her wedding costume a light tan suit and her corsage was of white gardenias.

Mrs. Jennings is a graduate of the Lincoln high school, Lincoln, Mo., in the class of 1942. She taught in the Yeager rural school the first term after graduating and since that time has been employed in Kansas City, Mo. At the time of her marriage she was employed as price clerk with the George A. Brean company.

Corporal Jennings is on a forty-five day furlough after serving in the Pacific area twenty-six months. He was in New Caledonia, Oahu, and Guam. Before entering service he was employed with the Pet Milk company at Neosho.

Corporal and Mrs. Jennings are spending his furlough with the bride's parents in Sedalia and with the bridegroom's mother in Neosho.

Corporal Jennings will report October 4 at Jefferson Barracks for reassignment.

He Handles Ship Bargains

IN THE WESTERN PACIFIC—A. E. Sole, Jr., seaman, first class, USNR, Route 4, Windsor, Mo., serving with the Service Force supply ship, USS Talita, has been concerned with what some folks might call irrelevant fare: chewing gum, garters, nail files, machine parts and pocket books.

In a tour of duty which began on the beachheads of Guadalcanal and continued through New Georgia, Rendova, Bougainville, Guam, Saipan, Leyte, and the Palapus, crew members of this "floating bargain basement" have filled requisitions for some 6,000 such items.

The Navy stores ship, commanded for "outstanding work" by her squadron commander, reached a climax in deliveries in the Palau Islands—in eleven days, she made emergency issues to 130 ships.

Merchants To Play Today And Monday

Versailles Merchants Here Today; Windsor Plays On Labor Day

Sedalia baseball fans who like their games hotly contested should see plenty at Liberty park for the next two days when the Sedalia Merchants meet Versailles Sunday afternoon and Windsor Monday afternoon.

The Sunday game will be the third of the series between these two clubs, Sedalia winning the first 4 to 3 and losing the second 5 to 3 in 10 innings and will find that sensational young lefthander, Bobby Brunkhorst pitted against Lefty Hal Green for the Merchants and a meeting between these two young pitchers can mean but one thing, another stirring pitchers battle.

Monday, Labor Day, the Merchants meet Windsor who will have on the mound a fine young righthander, McMillen, who has been touted as one of the best young pitchers developed in Central Missouri in years. Last Labor Day he hurled a 13 inning game against the Merchants but defeated by Green 1 to 0. McMillen is also a star basketball player and will have behind him some fine young players which Manager W. E. Reehrs has developed. Manager Nichols will likely rely on the veterans Gus Shirley or John Thomas to pitch against Windsor. These two fine teams should provide plenty of baseball for the Sedalia fans as they are both rated as outstanding teams in this section.

Lineups: Versailles—White cf, Cable 2b, Brunkhorst p, Kline 1b, Buerke c, McKee rf, Daniels 3b, Thixton ss, Arnold if.

Merchants—Livingood 1b, Light 2b, Shirley ss, Ellsworth 3b, Morris lf, Thomas cf, Williams rf, Norman c, Green p.

Monday's lineup: Windsor—C. Schweitzer ss, Sims 1b, Newbill c, Sims 1b, Newbill c, Green 2b, M. Dick cf, C. Schweitzer 3b, Hutson rf, C. Dick lf, McMillen p, xz.

Merchants—Livingood 1b, Light 2b, Thomas ss, Ellsworth 3b, Morris lf, Shirley cf, Williams rf, Poynter rf, Norman C. Thomas or Hynley, p.

Three Days For Deer Hunting

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—Missouri deer hunters, who last year enjoyed their first open season in this state in seven years, will have three days instead of two in which to gab their buck this fall, the Conservation Commission announced today. The deer season will be held November 1, 2 and 3 in twenty-one counties. Phelps county having been added to the twenty opened in 1944.

The counties where deer hunting will be permitted this year are Bollinger, Butler, Carter, Crawford, Dent, Franklin, Gasconade, Iron, Madison, Oregon, Osage, Perry, Phelps, Reynolds, Ripley, St. Francois, Ste. Genevieve, Shannon, Taney, Wayne and Washington.

During a two-day deer season last year Missouri nimrods bagged a total of 583 legal bucks, including an estimated 64 taken by farmers not required to have permits to hunt on their own land. The Commission reported that 7,557 licensed hunters killed 519 deer.

On the basis of last year's kill and a continued increase in the deer population observed by Commission field men, state game technicians agreed that a three-day open season could be permitted this year.

Propose Fee Change In Hunting Licenses

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—Director I. T. Bode of the State Conservation Commission announced today that the Commission will hold its annual "regulations meeting" in Jefferson City September 12 and 13.

Principal proposals to be considered by the Commission include changes in the permit system which would eliminate the county combination hunting, fishing and trapping permit and increase the statewide permit from $2.50 to $3. The present statewide fishing permit at $1 and statewide hunting-trapping permit at $2 would be retained.

Also proposed is the elimination of the present non-resident trip fishing license, which sells for $1 and is good for ten days. This change, if passed, would require all non-resident anglers to obtain the annual permit at $3.

The Commission also has before it a recommendation for increasing the daily trout fishing fee in state parks from 25 cents to 50 cents in order to make the trout program more nearly self-supporting.

Country Club Golf Tournney Is Lagging

Labor Day Handicap Tournament Will Be Played On Monday

The Sedalia County Club golf tournament has hit a "lagging stage" with several of the matches of the first and second rounds still to be played, holding up other golfers who advanced out of the bracket and are now having to wait.

Excuses of state fair and business have hit the "soft" spot of the tournament chairman who granted a few extra days and he is expected to prod the golfers along this week in an endeavor to get the tournament underway so it can be completed on September 9.

In the championship bracket, Cecil Owens defeated T. H. Yount 2 up one; H. B. Hunter defeated Dick Gorrell 3 up 2; Pierre Lamy defeated Harold Junge; Carl Oswald won over Glenn Neely 5 up 4, after Neely had defeated Arthur Scott 4 up 3; Elmer Herman defeated Harold Yunker 3 up 2. Junge lost after he was lagging behind on the first nine holes, due to the fact of a recent injury received in and automobile accident Junge could not continue on through the game.

In Class "A": The first round whirled by but the semi-final brackets have not been reached as yet out of three matches to be played. Ennis Courtney going into the finals after a tough battle with Harold Dean. Dean defeated H. R. Harris, then met Courtney and they played to a dead heat on the eighteen holes with Courtney finally winning 1-up on twenty holes.

Class "B" is the only bracket in good shape. Dillon defeated Ed McLaughlin 1-up; Dr. Lawrence Geiger defeated Ben Robinson 7 up 6, then took Frank Wagner 3 up 2; George Thomas won over H. O. Foraker by default and lost to Arthur Toffman, 7 up 5; Herb Pendleton defeated Milt Abeles 1 up.

Monday, the annual Labor Day handicap tournament is scheduled for the Country Club. The tournament is for all members of the club, and numerous prizes are to be offered by the tournament committee.

Cute Dish

It looks like one of those "girl-we'd-like-best-to-take-potluck-with" stunts, but it's the costume that won the prize for June Cox in a New York "beautiful legs" contest. She's supposed to represent the pot of gold at the end of the Victory Rainbow. There was no gold in the pot, but it was reported filled with nylons, which is even better.

Browns Split Twin Bill With Chicago Cubs

Senators Shutout The Yanks 3-0; Boston Trounces Philly A's

St. Louis 3-3, Chicago 5-0
CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—(P)—The Chicago White Sox snapped a six-game losing streak tonight as they won the first game of a twilight-night doubleheader from St. Louis, 5-3, and then dropped the afterpiece, 3-0, to the Browns before a crowd of 17,956 fans. Nelson Potter held the Chicagoans to six hits, scattered over as many innings, in winning his 13th victory of the year, and his sixth in a row.

Boston 7, Phillips A's 1
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 1.—(P)—Mike Ryba, veteran Boston Red Sox Moundsman, kept 10 Philadelphia Athletics hits scattered and ineffective tonight to beat Connie Mack's cellar dwellers, 7-1.

The Sox pounded Luther Knerr and Dick Fowler for 12 hits and notched a single run in the first to take a lead they never lost. Moston sewed up the game with a three run rally in the sixth on a triple by Tom McBride, a double by Ryba and singles by Skeeter Newsome and Eddie Lake.

Fowler, slim right-hander recently discharged by the Canadian army, and Shortstop Al Brancato, in service for three years, made their appearance for the A's in relief roles.

Detroit 5, Cleveland 4
DETROIT, Sept. 1.—(P)—Neither starting pitcher, Detroit's Hal Newhouse nor Cleveland's Bob Feller, was around at the finish today as the Tigers punched across a ninth inning run to edge the fifth place Indians 5 to 4 and preserve their game and a half American league lead.

Rudy York's clean smash into center field with the bases loaded and one out in the last frame drove in Ed Borom, who had beaten out a punt for his fifth straight hit of the game.

York's hit pinned the defeat on Ed (Specks) Kileman, who pitched the last two innings after the Tigers knocked out Feller in the seventh in tying the score with a two-run rally.

Three straight Detroit hits in the seventh shaved the Tribe's edge of 4-3 and sent Feller to the showers.

Borom's perfect punt led off the Tiger ninth and, Hank Greenberg set him to third with a single to center. Cullenbine was passed intentionally, setting the stage for York's game-wrecking single.

Washington 3, New York 0
WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—(P)—Relief hurler Alex Carrasquel of the Senators, today ended New York's string of victories over Washington by shutting the Yankees out, 3 to 0.

The angular Venezuelan held the Yankees to five hits in pitching his sixth straight win although he has started only five times all season.

Until Carrasquel stopped them, the Yankees had beaten the Senators six straight times within the past week.

George Binks gave Carrasquel a two run margin in the sixth by tripling into left the field corner behind Joe Kuhel's single. Binks scored after Charley Keller caught Rick Ferrell's fourth fly.

George Sturmeiss tied Myatt for the league's base stealing lead by adding his 27th theft.

Coon Hunting Tag Change Is Made

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—The Conservation Commission today called the attention of all coon hunters and trappers to a change in the coon tag system, requiring a different procedure in making reports.

The bag limit of ten coons per season, in effect since 1940, has been of great help and will be retained, Conservation officials said, pointing out that coons have increased every year since the restrictions went into effect. The tag-system, whereby in the past hunters were required to send in a card for each coon taken, has given much valuable information and will be retained in a simplified form. Thus for the coming season (December 1, 1945-January 15, 1946), game technicians explain that hunters will record the entire season's catch on a single postage-paid card, furnished free of charge by the Commission. This card must be in possession before a hunter or trapper can legally take raccoon, and must be returned, filled out with the information called for, on or before January 20, 1946.

The new tags will be available to anyone who applies in person or in writing to the local conservation agent or to the Conservation Commission at Jefferson City, giving complete name and address and permit (license) number, provided that farmers intending to hunt or trap only on the land on which they reside are not required to list a permit number.

Sport Scraps

(by D. K. SCRUTON)

SEDALIA The Capital of the World, a saying made famous by Johnny Layton, many times billiard champion of the world, certainly has its place in New York. It was in New York City that Layton first remarked to a sports editor in a question "Where are you from?" to which Layton replied, "Sedalia, Missouri, the Capital of the World".

Only last week New York sports fans saw another Sedalian in action, playing baseball in the All-American Boy's baseball game at the Polo Grounds. That young man was none other than John "Bud" Thomas, youthful shortstop of the Junior American Legion baseball team which was sponsored by Pettis County Post No. 16. "Bud" was chosen as the outstanding player in the State Legion tournament at St. Louis and made the trip to the Big City.

"Bud" lived up to the reputation of all Sedalians who make good in sports—that of making a good showing—and played all of the game with the exception of the last half of the ninth inning. Every play he made he was praised by radio commentators, sports writers in New York gave him several lines and in all Sedalia can be proud of him.

"It's a thrill that comes once in a lifetime" was the way Bud expressed his trip. He was proud of the fact that he was chosen as one of thirty-two young baseball players to participate in the game, there are but sixteen players on each team.

He came home last Thursday after the game Tuesday night and with him he had his entire West Team baseball uniform from cap to shoes, two bats that were used in the game, a beautiful blue suede warm-up jacket with "All-American" on the back, a blue sweater, gold baseball with his name engraved on it along with "All-American 1945", an autograph book with the names of all the players, the two team managers, Babe Ruth and Ty Cobb, coaches, and others. Also he had three autographed baseballs with Babe Ruth and Ty Cobb's names signed on them.

"Bud" thought of Calvin Rodgers, Jr., when he got those balls as it was Calvin's three base hit which put the game on ice at Marshall which sent Sedalia to the State tournament. So Calvin is the proud possessor of one ball and the other went to Manager Palmer Nichols, of the Sedalia Merchants, a close friend of the family.

CHARLES DRESSEN, Brooklyn Dodgers coach who worked for the West Team, presented Thomas with one of the Brooklyn Dodgers caps which he is very proud of. Not only that but he saw the Dodgers beat New York in a game at Ebbetts Field in Brooklyn, on the very field where he worked out with the West Team.

He also met Joe McCarthy, manager of the New York Yankees.

Bud didn't waste any time, he went to the top of the Empire State building with the team and had his picture taken, and with his room mate in New York, Mickey Cummings, catcher from Kansas City, they were the guest of a friend at the night club "The Latin Quarters" and had another picture taken.

The young man the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas, 813 East Sixteenth street, put in a full ten days in New York and enjoyed every minute of it. He also said he enjoyed the time spent sleeping in the Hotel New Yorker with Cummings.

ANOTHER letter backing the proposed Recreation Center for Sedalia was received at the Chamber of Commerce, it is from Sgt. R. Warbritton, and it reads as follows:

"Dear Sirs:
I am enclosing my ballot in favor of a Recreational Center for Sedalia. Most of the cities of Missouri are far ahead of us when it comes to recreation facilities of any kind. Let's use this opportunity to create a lasting Memorial to those who gave their all. Let's not have a big monument just to look at. Let's have something that can be useful to everyone.

"Let's make Sedalia the recreational center of Central, Missouri.

"Sgt. R. Warbritton, "LAPE-APO, "Wilmington, California."

That is one of many letters being received in Sedalia from service men and women supporting the recreational proposition.

FOOTBALL season is just around the corner, in fact Monday starts the football training for the Smith-Cotton high school grid team under the coaching of Ralph "Stub" Dow, assisted by Coach Albert Steiner. The Coaches have called for forty-four youths to report for football uniforms and other equipment at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon. The practice will begin at 3 o'clock.

THE wrestling season will get underway at the State Guard Armory, Ninth street and Ohio avenue, Tuesday night September 11. An all-star card has been arranged by matchmaker Gus Karras and promoter Simon Kalis, one which will keep the fans on edge for more than two and a half hours of mat entertainment.

Marshall Estep and Jerrey Meeker are to headline the show.

I am sorry that last week through a mistake two names of golfers were omitted from the Sedalia Country Club golf tournament. Glenn Neely succeeded in getting past the first round by defeating Arthur Scott 4 up 3, but he lost to Carl Oswald 5 up 4 in his next meeting. Then E. C. Martin, who defeated Sam Ross 5 up in the first round was overlooked. Martin is sitting tight to see who he has to play next, either Dr. A. L. Walter or Paul Hedderich.

World Series Plan Of '43 To Be Used

—CHARLOTTE, N. C., Sept. 1

—(P)—The war ends today with Japan's formal surrender but that won't make any difference in the wartime schedule of play for the world series.

In an informal interview here today, Baseball Commissioner Happy Chandler said that because of the continuing tight transportation situation, the series will follow the pattern adopted in 1943 on account of travel difficulties.

He explained that three games would be played in the park of the city where the series opens—this year the home town of the American league winner. The next three will be scheduled for the lot of the National league champions.

If a seventh game is necessary, Chandler said, the sit will be chosen after a conference with club officials.

Good Turnout For M. U. Tiger Team

COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 1.—(P)

Sixty-six candidates for the University of Missouri football team today answered Coach Chauncey Simpson's football call. Half a dozen letter men who were expected did not show up but Simpson said he hoped they would be on hand next week.

The MU mentor, after viewing morning and afternoon drills, said he believed the material is "a little better than last year."

Norval Piepmeyer of Buckner, Mo., who weighs over 300 pounds, and is a freshman was one of the candidates. He plays tackle.

Cards Beat Cubs 3 To 2 To Cut Lead

Giants Defeat The Dodgers 5-4; Phillies Beat Braves 8 to 3

St. Louis 3, Chicago 2

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 1.—(P)—Johnny Hopp's triple into center-field in the ninth inning scored Al Schoendienst and gave the world champion Cardinals a 3 to 2 victory over the Chicago Cubs tonight. It was the second straight triumph for the Cards over the Cubs in their series here and cut the margin between them and the league-leading Bruins to two games. George Dockins was the winning pitcher.

New York 5, Brooklyn 4

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—(P)—The New York Giants pulled to within one and a half games of the Brooklyn Dodgers today when Ace Adams, in his 55th relief appearance, was credited with a 5-4 victory over the Flatbushers. Clyde Kink was the loser.

A homer by Billy Jurgens in the eighth off King, third of four Brooklyn hurlers, broke a 4-4 tie and gave the Giants the game. The Giants opened the scoring in the second, when Mike Scherer singled off starter Ralph Branca and three walks forced in a run. Mel Ott banged his 19th homer for the giants in the fifth.

Ed Stanky's run-scoring double highlighted a two-run Dodger uprising in the seventh and Ed Stevens tied up the game in the top of the eighth with a home run, which routed Johnny Brewer. Adams then strolled in to annex his 11th victory.

Philadelphia 8, Boston 3

BOSTON, Sept. 1.—(P)—Vince DiMaggio smashed out his fourth grand slam home run of the season in the fifth inning to equal the major league record as he sparked the Philadelphia Phillies to an 8-3 victory over the Boston Braves today at Braves Field.

DiMaggio's 18th and record tying homer accounted for four of the seven runs which tied the game for the Phils and sent Elmer Singleton to the showers. The mark was set by Frank Schulte of the Chicago Cubs in 1911 and later duplicated by Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, both of the New York Yankees, and Rudy York of the Detroit Tigers.

The Wrestling Season Will Open Sept. 11

Estep and Meeker Headline First Card For The Legion

Wrestling under the sponsorship of Pettis County Post No. 16, American Legion, will open officially the 1945-46 season on Tuesday night, September 11 in the State Guard Armory, Ninth street and Ohio avenue. The fight card is headlined with Marshall Estep, the wrestling postmaster of Sturgeon, Mo., meeting Jerry Meeker, of Milwaukee, Wis., in the main event.

Matchmaker Gus Karras and Promoter Simon Kalis are arranging a full schedule of matches for the winter and expect to bring into Sedalia some of the best wrestlers in the game. Karras in a telephone conversation with representatives of the Legion said he has booked some of those wrestlers who fans are anxious to see, among them the Angel.

"Big Man" Morgan, who is known as the Hill Billy matman from Rogers, Arkansas, weighing 320 pounds will be on the opening match. Morgan is scheduled to meet Abe Yorst, of New York City, 260 pound wrestler. They will appear in the semi-windup on the card with the best two falls out of three, 45-minute time limit.

The opening match is between Harold "Sonny" Meyers of St. Joseph, and Cal Reece, recently discharged from the army after 38 months in the Pacific theatre of war. Reece comes to Sedalia from Kansas City. They will wrestle for the best two falls out of three with a thirty-minute time limit.

Meeker needs no introduction to the local mat fans. He is an outdoor sportsman and keeps in top notch condition year in and year out. He is a powerful man and expects to be plenty of trouble for Estep.

The Legion is making plans to arrange for bleachers for the Armory as well as the ringside seats so as to accommodate at least 1,500 to 2,000 wrestling fans.

60,000 See C. C. Exhibit At Fair

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—The State Conservation Commission estimated that 60,000 persons saw its exhibit at the Missouri State Fair, which closed last Sunday.

Total paid attendance at the fair was announced at 120,000, and daily counts by Commission officials indicated that at least half of all fair visitors saw the conservation display.

Of particular interest in the conservation exhibit were the display of live, native fishes; a display of live animals, reptiles and other specimens by G. E. Moore, state naturalist; a coyote-control and continuous motion pictures display featuring a live coyote showing trapping methods, and an extensive forestry exhibit centered by a working model sawmill.

Sailor Celebrates Birthday At Home When Japan Surrenders

Aug. 14 was a day long to be remembered by Milburn George Heimsoth, 21, gunner's mate 2/c U. S. N., who celebrated his birthday anniversary at home on the day that Japan surrendered.

He arrived in Sedalia August 13 on his second leave after being in the service of his country for 30 months and visited his grandmother, Mrs. Wilhelmine Heimsoth, Thirty-second street and South Grand avenue, and his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Dotson of Sedalia.

Mr. Heimsoth's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Rosebrock of Spring Fork entertained relatives at a goose dinner in honor of his birthday.

While in the States Heimsoth was stationed at Farragut, Idaho, Seattle, Wash., Los Angeles and San Francisco, Calif., and served in foreign lands to the east and west.

He has seen active duty in England, in the South Pacific, Australia, New Guinea and on the following islands: Samoa, New Hebrides, Admiralty, Hawaii, in the Coral and Bismarck seas. He has made six trips across the Pacific, crossing the equator 12 times and was on four different ships on his tour of duty.

Wounded in action, he was sent back to the States and underwent an operation in March of this year at Yosemite, Calif. After being released from the Convalescent hospital in June he was sent to Treasure Island where he guarded German prisoners.

Before reporting to duty today, Sept. 2, he visited his wife who is residing with her parents in Los Angeles for the duration.

A BRAND NEW SHOW, "Union Station," starts on KMBC September 3. Union Station has probably turned up more good stories in its time than police headquarters, and with Gene Dennis, KMBC's director of special events, behind the roving microphone, everything that goes on in the terminal will be grist to the mill. I—Announcements

3—In Memoriam
MEYERS: HENRY A.—In loving memory of husband and father who passed away three years ago today, September 1, 1941. In our hearts your memory lingers, tenderly, sweetly, kindly and true. There is not a day, dear, that we do not think of you. Sadly missed by wife and sons.

VAUGHT: ROBERT A.—In memory of Pte. Robert A. Vaught, killed one year ago today in Belgium.

He had a smile for everyone, A heart as pure as gold. To those who knew and loved him best, His memory will never grow old.

Sadly missed by Mom and Dad, Brothers and Sisters.

Red Cross Corner

The Red Cross office will be closed Monday, September 3, in observance of Labor Day.

Mrs. John C. McLaughlin and the members of her committee filled and packed Kit Bags last Monday morning and shipped a consignment of 150. A good many "Corners" have been devoted to the Kit Bags and we feel that the success of this program certainly compensates for all the time and money that have been poured into it. We have always regretted that space does not permit us to print all the letters that we have received from servicemen all over the world telling us just how much those little khaki bags have meant to them.

Attention please, Baby Shirts! All volunteers who are working on the baby shirts are asked to complete them as soon as possible and return them to the office. The date for shipment is getting closer and closer and we must have these tiny, necessary garments out on time.

A "thank you" is indicated in the case of Mrs. Abe Rosenthal, who responded to our plea for a divan by producing one within 24 hours of the request. An addition to the office furniture, this divan-portion certainly makes our Home Service room a far more comfortable place for interviews to be carried out in.

In spite of the somewhat tepid weather that Sedalia has been experiencing of late, the need for certain knitted garments is still a pressing one for American servicemen. We have in the office quite a few wristlets and mufflers which must go out and get themselves made. We hope that our knitters will not take V-J Day to mean that all Red Cross production is at an end. There is still work to be done. Please come into the office at your earliest opportunity and take out the yarn and knit it into mufflers and wristlets. Some American boy will bless you for this winter.

Additional Society

Mr. and Mrs. John Schwenk, of Cleveland, Ohio, arrived Saturday and were guests overnight of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sharon, 1100 South Massachusetts avenue, and leave this morning for Kansas City thence to Paola, Kas., to Monday, September 3, attended the golden jubilee and home coming celebration of Ursuline academy of which Mrs. Schwenk is a graduate. She was formerly Miss Marie Scanlon, of Sedalia.

Mrs. E. D. Marshall, 1615 West Twentieth street, entertained Thursday afternoon with a shower in honor of Mrs. John Diehl, of Dayton, O., who has been visiting in Sedalia. Mrs. Diehl was formerly Miss Catherine Schmidt, the daughter of Mrs. Earl Thurman. She was married to Mr. Diehl on April 28.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to the following guests: Mrs. Joe Schupp, Mrs. Glasgow, Mrs. Erwin, Mrs. Davidson, Mrs. Voight, Mrs. Geringer, Mrs. Gelhe and two daughters, Mrs. E. P. Hudson, Mrs. Belle Overfelt, Mrs. J. S. Goldsmith and son, David, Mrs. Robert Marshall and son, Miss Nellie Helsey, Mrs. Ralph Hutchings and daughter, Mrs. Earl Thurman, Mrs. E. P. Bemis, Mrs. Letzer, Mrs. Richards, Mrs. Wagner, Mrs. Ruby Joyce, Mrs. Beulah Sperber, Mrs. Earl Thurman.

Mrs. Diehl received many nice gifts.
The bride was born and reared in Sedalia and was graduated from Smith-Cotton high school. She was employed at the Bell Telephone company.
The bridegroom's home is in Altoona, Pa. He has served his country for 3 1/2 years and most of the time was overseas. He was stationed a short time at the Sedalia Army Air Field. He is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania.
The young couple reside in Dayton, O., where he is now stationed.

The Loyal Rebekah Sosing club met at the lodge hall Friday at a covered dish luncheon. Because of the heat the business session was short. Yarn was purchased to complete an afghan.
The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Forest Hood, 615 West Second street, Wednesday, September 26.

With Fleet
Near Japan

ABOARD THE USS NORTH CAROLINA OFF JAPAN—(Delayed)—Lt. Stansel E. DeFoe, 26, USNR, husband of Mrs. Joan Baird DeFoe of Wellington, Mo., and son of Mrs. George McKelvey of 1900 South Summit avenue, Sedalia, Mo., is serving aboard this battleship which is part of the powerful Pacific Fleet engaged in occupying Japan.

Under the operational control of Admiral William F. Halsey, USN, Commander of the 3rd Fleet, the North Carolina, one of the "glamor" ships of the Fleet, assembled with 11 other battleships, 17 aircraft carriers, five escort carriers, 20 cruisers and more than 290 other U. S. ships to carry out the first stages of the occupation of the Japanese home islands.

Shops and Rails

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Freeman of Los Angeles, Calif., were visitors in Sedalia last week. They accompanied the body of Mrs. Freeman's mother from Los Angeles to Warrensburg for burial in that city. They are former residents of this city.

C. Michaelis, general machine foreman, is taking a two-week vacation.

C. R. Kilbury, superintendent of shops, was in St. Louis last Thursday where he attended the monthly staff meeting of Missouri Pacific officials.

O. A. Garber, chief mechanical officer for the Missouri Pacific, and L. R. Christy, superintendent car department, were in Sedalia last week on their regular inspecting tour of the local shops. They arrived in Business car No. 5 and were accompanied by J. H. Thomas, secretary to Mr. Garber.

Missouri Pacific locomotives 101, 1723, 1931 and 9750 were released for service last week after undergoing a general overhauling at the local shops. Locomotive 1246 was released after being shopped for the application of new cylinders.

J. H. McQuiddy, tool supervisor for the Missouri Pacific, was at the shops last week on business. G. T. Callender, mechanical superintendent for the Missouri Pacific, was in the city last Monday on business.

L. F. Kintner, machinist, was in St. Louis Friday undergoing a check-up at the company hospital in that city.

J. N. Johnson, machinist, is taking a 30-day leave of absence. Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Morris and family are spending a few days visiting relatives near Springfield, Mo. Mr. Morris is a sheetmetal worker at the local shops.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Shirley and children have been spending the past week visiting relatives in Kansas City, Kas. They also visited with Mr. Shirley's father, who is a patient in a Kansas City hospital on account of illness. Mr. Shirley is a sheetmetal worker welder at the local shops.

Files Divorce Action

Ada Richardson, through her next friend, Cecil Curtis, sued for divorce from Earnest Richardson in a petition filed Friday in the Pettis county circuit court.

Married August 10, 1940, the couple separated August 25, 1944. Mrs. Richardson requests the care and custody of four-year-old son and that her maiden name Ada Franklin be restored.

Above is the picture which won first place in the art exhibit at the 1945 Missouri State Fair. The picture was painted by John E. Reiley of St. Louis, who is a brother-in-law of Mrs. William H. Reiley, Jr., 1107 South Lamine avenue, this city. Mr. Reiley has been drawing pictures for several years but only began oil painting to a year ago.

War Mothers
Club Was Busy

War Mothers Club No. 1, had a busy month. August 3 they entertained with a program and social hour for discharged service men and women, and those who were on furloughs. August 8 and 22 they served as hostesses at the USO for service men. August 13 they went to the SAAF to sew. August 18 they entertained with an ice cream social on the lawn of the Fifth Street Methodist church for service men and their families, and the GSO. Fair week they were hostesses at the O'Reil-

Soldier Recovers Health

Every few weeks a soldier would have attacks in which he first lost consciousness, sometimes for hours following which he was totally paralyzed in one-half of the body but this condition would gradually disappear. He was in several army hospitals but they were unable to locate the cause. He was home on his last furlough before being sent across and on the last day of the family suggested that chiropractic might help so they brought him in. The only thing I could find wrong was one subluxation in the neck which might interfere with the nerve and blood supply to the brain and I adjusted it.

After he had been in Europe for sometime he wrote that he had not had another attack and after having gone through some of the hardships of war he has returned home and has never had another attack.

Never having seen the patient during an attack I cannot be sure just what did happen as the result of the subluxation but it does demonstrate that a chiropractor may cure a patient and never know what the symptoms are. If normal nerve supply is restored to a part, nature will restore normal function if it is possible.

Some may say the patient would never have had another attack anyway. That might happen but applies to any form of treatment but it cannot be a coincidence where thousands and thousands of people get well after chiropractic treatments.
